

Super Bowl Debacle

I was offended NFL contracted with MTV to do the show - My husband and I have that channel blocked in our home. We live in Charlotte - enjoying the game and felt personally violated by the actions! We had children in the room and had no way to protect them. I was not happy with other parts of the show, and had already thought this show was not family friendly! - But we had no idea what was to come!

No one can tell me the singers did not plan and prepare to do exactly what happened!

The FCC should charge the NFL as being responsible - they are the ones who contracted with MTV - They should have never paid them to do the show!!! - Then MTV should be charged they are responsible for their employees - My boss has expectations for my actions at work, but they also fire me if I do not follow their directions!

I believe this was illegal activity so the two actors also should be charged and fined.

You would think Janet Jackson would be above reproach with her brother charged with illegal activity with children. The apologies are just too late - the damage is done and cannot be taken back!!!!

Our culture is one of excuses and refuses to assume responsibility for actions! Lets see if the FCC does its job - if not someone should be fired there!!!!!! Young people are watching to see if adults mean what they say about character and decency!

Please keep this in front of the public until someone is held responsible!!!

Lindalyn Kakadelis

Former Teacher

Director of the North Carolina Education Alliance